PRODUCTS, WITH THEIR CURRENT STATUS

Where our software stands this October.

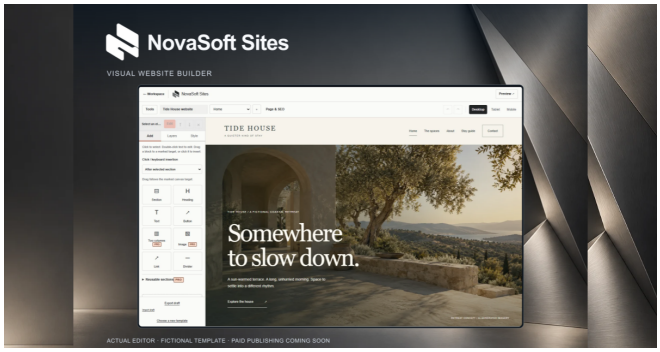

We have put more real product screens on the website and added guides to help people choose and set up our software. Here is where the products stand this October.

NovaSoft One

One's web CRM brings shared customers, sales, tasks, projects and service together. The iPhone and iPad app is coming soon; an App Store link will follow when it is available.

New screenshots show the product and its stage. Check current availability before choosing a plan or expecting an integration.

AI WORK YOU CAN REVIEW

Keep the source in view.

NovaSoft Orbit - development preview with sample content

The standalone development preview brings chat, documents, source-linked research and project work together. Actual screenshots use sample content. Public access and connections to One or Sites are not yet confirmed.

WordHeld: local transcription, optional Personal AI

Studio and Focus bring transcripts, editable maps and notes into the Windows preview. Optional Personal AI uses your own OpenAI key and asks before sending transcript text. Local speech recognition processes audio on device after setup. Current Windows libraries protect stored text and audio; older copies and exports still need care.

Windows evaluation; no public Studio installer. Clinical cloud AI is blocked. WordHeld is not clinically validated. Managed AI subscriptions and a public Mac release remain in development.

EVERYDAY APPS AND PRACTICAL DELIVERY

Different tools. Familiar jobs.

UPly handles individual client work. LifeTabs organises tasks and plans. MindSafe keeps personal ideas in a vault. MemoryMate supports familiar routines with optional spoken steps and reminders, and remains free forever. Website images show product previews. Check the App Store for release notes and the build on your device.

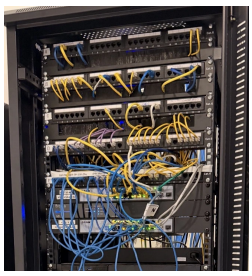

MemoryMate does not monitor health or automatically notify carers. Reminders depend on device settings and notification permission.
